Avin is a smart app for the iPhone and iPod touch that is meant to replace your old calendar system or your less than spectacular task manager. Avin and DoCal are both designed with simplicity in mind. Both are beautiful and intuitive to use, but they are almost completely opposite. With Avin, you have a lot more power than you'd think possible with such a small app. DoCal is very simple, but unfortunately, it lacks just enough options to provide the user with the needed flexibility. Avin is meant to be that flexible software that you can use in any time and anywhere. It has powerful, flexible features such as the ability to print tickets, set reminder alarms, and the scheduling of meeting appointments. It has smart features such as the ability to use GPS for your appointments and the capability to send out custom SMS messages with your appointments all at once. DoCal is a very basic app that you can use to track appointments and activities, but Avin is a much better option for those who are looking for more features and a simple but elegant interface. Using Avin Avin is ideal for those who are looking for a simple app that does just one thing really well. You are going to want to use Avin as your task manager and calendar system. By using Avin, you are able to see all of your appointments and tasks in one place, which means you can plan your day, week, or even month ahead. Avin is very flexible. It allows you to create different types of schedules. This means you can use it for your day, week, or even month ahead. You can create multiple schedules that you can use for different purposes and you can even share them with friends. Creating an appointment or task in Avin is very simple and easy. You are able to create an event for a time or for a day. You can add details such as a location, reminders, notes, or you can create a task and make it a reminder. Avin can be set to automatically share your events with other people.
