Well, then you don't need this extension! A lot of people are creating RSS-readers nowadays, but what really do they bring? Well, nothing for free users, of course, but there are a lot of add-ons and options that you can find on the web. But not so many that they can compete with your browser. Let's say you have a free RSS-reader and you are not satisfied with its capabilities. It does not integrate well with your browser, for instance, and also lacks some of the many add-ons that are available for your browser. You have to choose whether to pay for your browser or your RSS-reader. But today, I present you a better option: SAVE to Pocket! It allows you to save any website (or RSS-feed) from a website to your pocket, and therefore, it replaces your browser's RSS-readers with a lightweight utility. And it does what it should, and then a lot more. Installing the extension is easy, and the configuration options are also available. You can even use it on your mobile device! Save to Pocket is one of the most useful extensions for Chrome, and I recommend it to everyone! You can find it on the Chrome Web Store.
